

I am strongly opposed to any changes in the FCC ownership rules which will allow further concentration of media ownership.

Our media are already owned by too few large organizations, resulting in availability of too few points of view being available for broadcast and print. There is already too much control of information and opinion by too few individuals and organizations. To allow even more concentration of media ownership will inevitably worsen this already undesirable situation.

Thank you.

Rick Frieden